

COAL CO. MAKES NO REDUCTION

Local Officials of U. P. Concern Say They Have No Authority to Give Rebates.

ROADS TAKING THE SUPPLY
CRITICAL SITUATION DEVELOPING RAPIDLY.

The Union Pacific Coal company, as far as the Salt Lake officials of the company have been informed, has made no storage rate of 25 cents a ton on coal brought into Salt Lake from its mines, notwithstanding the announcement to this effect made by the general freight officials of the Oregon Short Line two weeks ago, when they announced a change in their own coal tariffs, whereby consumers who order coal this summer are given the advantage of a 25-cent per ton reduction in the freight charges.

"I don't know anything about our company giving any 25-cent per ton rebate on coal purchased this summer," said J. M. Moore, local agent for the Union Pacific Coal company, yesterday afternoon. "I have not had one word from the general offices of our company to any such effect. We are not getting in any coal on which to give a storage rate in the first place, and in the second, if I had 10,000 tons here, I could not give anyone a storage rate of 25 cents a ton, because the company hasn't authorized me to do it. I don't know who announced the fact that we would give a storage rate this summer."

Mr. Moore stated further that he is refusing all orders for coal from local dealers. "There isn't any coal coming in," was his terse statement last night. It is known ahead of its consumption of coal in the matter of the road's supply, and on top of this comes the demand from the smelters.

Mistake Somewhere.

"The notice that the Oregon Short Line would put in a storage rate of 25 cents a ton this year and that the Union Pacific Coal company would put in a like rate on storage coal was sent out from my department," said J. A. Reeves, general freight agent of the Oregon Short Line, last night. "I was not here, however, and I am unable to explain the matter. I have understood unofficially that the Union Pacific Coal company had authorized the storage rate to local dealers. I shall investigate at once."

The fact that the Union Pacific Coal company has not authorized any storage rate this year has little significance at this time in any event, for no coal is coming in for the use of the local dealers. The railroads are using every pound they can get and they are only a few days ahead of their supply. Local dealers have attempted to place orders for thousands of tons since the announcement of the storage rate on the Oregon Short Line, but these orders have been refused for immediate shipment.

The situation is so bad the Union Pacific is buying coal for consumption on the eastern end of the road. Last season at this time the Oregon Short Line had about 20,000 or 30,000 tons stored for reserve, while now it is having hard work to keep its supply two days ahead of its consumption.

The Rio Grande coal fields are pressed almost as hard to keep up with the demand, although the Utah Coal company has made no storage rate on coal and it has been decided to make no reduction. The output of the mines cannot keep up with the increased demand for coal, due to the needs of the smelters and other industries. Garfield alone is taking over 1,000 tons a day, and the demand in addition to the requirements last year. The Western Pacific is rapidly approaching the stage where it must have coal, as this division of the road will soon be open to regular traffic.

A critical situation is developing and local dealers and the hearers of the coal miners are becoming exceedingly nervous. The developments of the next four or five weeks will be anxiously watched here in the matter of coal shipments from the Wyoming and Utah fields.

M'LEAN IS RELEASED.

Cervix Six Months After Long Wait for Trial.

After being in jail for more than a year, only six months of which time was served as a condemned prisoner, D. C. McLean was released yesterday. McLean was arrested in Ogden on a charge of using the United States mails for the purpose of blackmailing a woman who lived in this city and placed in the county jail, where he remained until last November before an indictment could be returned against him, for the reason that the federal grand jury did not meet until that time. When the charge was brought, McLean pleaded guilty. In consideration of the fact that he had already been so long in prison, Judge Marshall imposed a sentence of only five months penal servitude in addition to a fine.

Section 192 of the revised statutes of the United States provides that in cases where a fine is attached to a prison sentence, the prisoner may be released after serving thirty days additional time in satisfaction of the fine, if he makes affidavit that he is impecunious and unable to pay. McLean made the necessary affidavit and Commissioner Charles Baldwin of Ogden issued an order for his release.

S. D. Evans, Undertaker and Embalmer, removed to new location, 48 South State street.

CONDITION OF MRS. WELLS REGARDED AS DESPERATE

Mrs. Heber M. Wells and the Eagle Gate. The spot where the automobile struck the pillar is indicated by a cross.

At 3 o'clock this morning word from the Latter-day Saints hospital was that Mrs. Heber M. Wells would probably survive the operation. Her condition is regarded as desperate. The hope of the surgeon who is attending her is that she may rally and gain strength sufficient to undergo an operation for the amputation of the left leg, but at this time she is in no condition to withstand the shock of such an operation.

Mrs. Wells is the victim of an automobile accident which occurred early Monday morning. She, with Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Richards, were riding on Brigham street, in a great touring car owned by Mr. Richards. Mr. Richards, who was driving, attempted to make the turn into State street northward, but the steering gear, Mr. Richards says, failed to respond to his manipulation, and the machine dashed into a pillar supporting the Eagle gate. Mrs. Wells came in contact with the stone foundation in such a manner that all the posterior muscles and blood vessels of the left leg above the knee were either severed or terribly lacerated. One of the principal arteries was severed, and Mrs. Wells lost blood in quantities that proved to be almost fatal. She was taken to her home on First street, where she was attended by Dr. S. H. Pinkerton. At the first it was believed that the bone had been broken, but later it was found that there was not a complete fracture. Yesterday forenoon Mrs. Wells was removed to the Latter-day Saints hospital, where an operation was performed, as a preliminary step toward a more serious operation. Mrs. Wells, in spite of the shock of the accident, and the anesthesia which had been administered, remained in her enfeebled condition. The surgeons deemed it advisable not to proceed further at this time. If Mrs. Wells regains strength amputation of the leg will be made. It is not positively known that Mrs. Wells suffered internal injuries, although there is a possibility that she did; these, however, it is said, are necessarily of slight nature.

Joseph T. Richards, the driver of the automobile, was confined to his home all day. His shoulder is dislocated, and he suffers severely from the shock. Mrs. Richards is the fortunate member of the party, in that she has almost entirely recovered from her experience.

Will Quit Salt Lake.

"I shall not attempt to bring another balloon to Salt Lake, for it is evident that someone wishes to prevent my operating here," continued Van Tassel last night. "While I could probably keep these from breaking into house balloons and cutting another bag, any fellow who knows his business could stand 200 or 300 feet away from the balloon some afternoon while it was near the ground ready for a trip with passengers, and cut it by sailing a piece of glass swiftly against it. It is a trick that has been done hundreds of times and every balloon man knows that the best thing he can do when someone is trying to keep him from operating is to quit, because there are twenty ways they can 'get you.' The fellow that cut my balloon last night knew what he was doing, for he knew just how and where to cut the bag so that it would be hardest for me to repair it, if I was foolish enough to try to patch it up."

Manager Halvorsen of the Salt Palace said last night that he was doing all in his power to find out who cut the balloon, but that the case seemed extremely difficult.

The Beneficial Life Insurance company will move their office from the Deseret News building to 16 East South Temple, ground floor Templeton building.

BRONCHIAL COUGHS

Breathe Hyomei's Healing Air and All Irritation Will Be Quickly Cured.

The most irritating and annoying form of cough is that termed bronchial. People subject to bronchial troubles whenever there is a change in the weather or they are exposed to a draft will "catch" a bronchial cough, which is very disagreeable, irritating and annoying.

Bronchial troubles cannot be cured by stomach dosing. The medicated air of Hy-o-mei is the only treatment that reaches the affected parts and gives relief and cure. It destroys all the disease germs that are present in the nose, throat and lungs, soothes and relieves the irritated mucous membrane in all parts of the bronchial tubes and quickly overcomes the irritation.

Bronchitis is really an inflammation of the mucous membrane lining the air passages and is purely a local disease, so that it needs a local treatment like that afforded by Hy-o-mei.

If there is any doubt in your mind as to the power of Hy-o-mei to cure bronchial troubles so that the system will resist coughs and colds, the unusual way in which it is sold by F. C. Schramm should dispel that doubt. He agrees to refund the money to any purchaser of Hy-o-mei who is not perfectly satisfied with the results following the use of the remedy. He takes all the risk, and if the remedy does not help you it does not cost a penny, while if it cures, the expense is nominal, for a complete Hy-o-mei outfit is sold at only $1.00.

For sale by F. C. Schramm, corner First South and Main streets, "Where the cars stop."

DEATH CLAIMS JUDGE REED

Well-Known Lawyer Succumbs to Attack of Cancer of Stomach—Arrangements for Funeral.

Judge Christopher Reed of Salt Lake died at the Latter-day Saints hospital yesterday morning of cancer of the stomach, after a serious illness of about a week.

Judge Reed had many friends throughout the state and in this city, who were greatly shocked at the news of his death, as it was not generally known that his condition was critical. The funeral services will be held in the Masonic temple at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon under the auspices of the Mt. Moriah lodge, his assistants started to drag it in to give it a coat of oil the cuts and slits in the silk were discovered.

Every slit is along a seam, the most difficult place to patch. Van Tassel says he won't try to patch. "It is almost impossible to patch a fine balloon and mine and not have it leak, and there it is an iron clad rule among veteran balloonists to the effect that if you patch a balloon you lose your money and probably kill you." Patch as thoroughly as you will, there is sure to be needle holes through which the gas can escape and cause a cavity or slight depression in the face of the balloon. Such a cavity, be it ever so small, operates like a sail on any big balloon. The air catches it and will drive the balloon every way but the way it should go.

Judge Reed had lived in Salt Lake about four years. He was the senior member of the law firm of Reed & Hartley. Judge Reed came from Virginia and was born in 1848. After graduating from the University of Virginia he practiced law in New York. He was a brother of Walter Reed, the noted bacteriologist, and a brother and sister-in-law of a man of fine intellect and was known as an exceptionally able lawyer. He married Mary Williams of Burlington, Ill., daughter of Robert Williams, one of the leading corporation lawyers of Illinois.

In 1887 he moved to Wichita, Kas., where he served two terms on the bench and was tendered the nomination for a third term, having made a particularly fine record at a time when Justice Brewer now chief justice of Kansas. Judge Reed went to Salt Lake in 1903, where he came to Salt Lake for the benefit of his son's health. In 1903 he entered into partnership with Richard J. Hartley, an old friend of the family.

NEW CHURCHES TO BE ERECTED

Westminster Presbyterian Congregation to Take Action Wednesday Evening.

PARISH HAS BROAD FIELD

NEW PASTOR TAKES UP IMPORTANT PROJECT.

The congregation of the Westminster Presbyterian church will meet next Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock at the old church, Fourth West street, between First and Second South streets, to take action looking to the erection of a new church. The new location is the southeast corner of Fifth South and First West streets.

"This is one of the most important sites for a church in the city," said the pastor, Rev. Charles Curtis McIntyre, in discussing the project last evening. With the erection of a few missions and Sunday schools, the Westminster Presbyterian church will be the only Protestant church on the west side of Main street. It will have the largest field in the city, covering a territory with a population of 20,000.

The building will not be an expensive one. It will be a plain, unostentatious, but modern building, having a view a large seating capacity and proper accommodations for the growing Sunday school, and other organizations and societies connected with the church.

The new pastor has thrown himself into the work of building the new church with enthusiasm. He is well aware of the task confronting him when he accepted the pastorate, but he is no less determined to carry it to a successful consummation.

WANTS HIS RINGS BACK

Pretty Girl Refuses to Return the Jewels—Love's Dream Shattered.

A rather spicy and interesting love story has developed in the case of Arnold Wolfe against Bessie Price for the return of several diamonds held by the latter. The case is to be heard in the district court shortly.

Will F. Smith is the man in the case. According to the story, he became enamored of Miss Price several months ago and presented her with several costly diamond rings, valued at $75. The love sloop on which Miss Price and Mr. Smith embarked, however, struck a reef not long since, and the couple parted after several stormy scenes.

Now Smith wants to recover the rings and the young lady of his affections says she couldn't think of it. Accordingly, Smith has succeeded in getting Wolfe to sue for the rings, on the ground that they are not paid for, Smith having purchased them of Wolfe in the first place. Wolfe also asks $20 damages. Judge Lewis denied Wolfe's motion to compel Miss Price to deliver the diamonds over to the sheriff for safe keeping until the case is decided.

CADETS CAPTURE HAYSTACK

Scared Their Cows Away Too, and Had to Drink Black Coffee—Some Target Practice.

Camp Callahan, June 17.—The main feature of today's encampment was the practice attack which took place during the morning. The entire day was full of interesting events. Immediately after the regular routine of camp life had been gone through this morning the battalion was assembled and led off from the camp a distance of about 50 yards, and there given a few preliminary instructions in the methods used in an attack by a small party against a similar party entrenched.

The entrenched party today was nothing more formidable than a hay stack. Company A was sent out under Captain M. Van Vleet to take the hay stack. The company was given the order to advance and after they had advanced to a point where the enemy were supposed to have discovered them they opened fire and then took to cover where they waited for support. Here they were joined by company D, under Captain E. Van Cott, who constituted with his company the first division of the support. These two companies advanced to a point about 40 yards from the hay stack and waited there for the balance of the support. After the entire line of skirmishers had been formed the battalion was given the order to advance and advanced by a divided platoon rush, the non-moving platoon covering the advance by a squad volley. At a distance of 100 yards the charge was sounded by the orderly trumpeter, and the battalion bravely charged the hay stack, only to find that they had succeeded in scaring their two cows so badly that the battalion had to drink their postum black tonight.

The athletic events were a pick-a-back race between companies B and E, a bag race between companies B and E, and swimming matches in which the entire battalion took part. Later in the day company A went out to the target range. Fairly good results were obtained. Retreat parade was given before a large crowd of visitors from the neighboring towns.
